

Spring Garden Waldorf School's Parent-Child Classes provide education and resources for parents and their young children from ages 18 months to 4 years old. Parents and children join together in a warm environment that imitates the rhythms and atmosphere of a Waldorf early childhood classroom. Classes are taught by Roberta Miday, a certified Waldorf Early Childhood teacher.

Children are guided through the morning by the gentle rhythm of circle time, creative play, snack and story time. Parents engage in home-like activities or make simple crafts while their children help them or play nearby. Children play with simple, natural toys and materials.

The natural world and seasonal festivals are reflected during circle time. This provides the opportunity to learn through music and rhyme. Games and movement activities engage both large and fine motor coordination. Stories and puppet plays nourish the child's imagination and provide rich material for creative play.

The classes offer information and give parents an opportunity to discuss child development, parenting issues and Waldorf education with an experienced teacher. Sessions are offered year round. Fees for the 7 week spring session are $130.00 for one child and parent(s) and $65 for each additional child.

The sessions are each held once a week for a 7 week session. Class sizes are limited and fill quickly. The schedule for 2009 Parent-Child spring sessions are as follows:

Tuesday Class begins April 13;
9 a.m. -11:30 a.m.

Friday Class begins April 16;
9 a.m.-11:30 a.m.
